"Twenty-five years ago, as a mem-ber of the old Mobile Yacht Club, I used to make the trip to Pensacola Assorted Cakes occasionally by water. At that time the very place where the San Carlos hotel now stands was very sparsely settled indeed-most of the activity of the town being confined to the region near Palafox wharf. The vast difference shown today means progress and prosperity for Pensacola, and I believe that the new hotel will be a leading factor in the new conditions which are so rapidly appearing."

* IN MEMORIAM.

* A. K. Johnson, born in Trondhjen, Norway, December 27, 1862, died at Pensacola, Florida, U. S. A., February 21, 1910, aged 47 years.

Mr. Johnson came to Pensacola in the year 1895, arriving here on the U. S. Fish Commission steamer Fish Hawk, as quartermaster. Soon after selecting this city as his home, he engaged in business, and his geniality surrounded him with hundreds of friends. Mr. Johnson was especially on the first place in the percentage popular with the citizens of foreign birth who found in him a friend at all times, and one whose generosity and liberality were never lacking. He played. The Colts defeated the Impewas a man who loved his home, and his little family suffered an irreparable loss in his demise.

New Orleans, Feb. 2t.—Cotton futures opened quiet unchanged to 3 points lower than yesterday's closing. No great amount of business was done on the call, but afterwards brokers received a considerable volume of seiling orders from profittaking longs and prices fell off on the more active months until they were 5 points down. The first sale of May was at an advance of 1 point and the price fell 6 points from this in the first half-hour of trading. The weekly statistics were more favorable than expected and the weather map continued dry, but bulls were not aggressive. the weather map continued dry, but bulls were not aggressive.

The decline continued until about the middle of the session, when May and July were 8 to 9 points under yesterday's closing. Here fresh long buying came in and during the remainder of the morning the market had a strong undertone and gradually advanced until May and July, the most active months, were 21 to 24 points up from the bottom. There was little trading in March or in the new crop months. Toward the end of the day shorts bought freely and showed nervousness over the prospects of a good spot demand from exporters and other spot shorts during the week to come as forecast in builish market circulars. The closing was very steady at a net advance of 12 to 14 points on the old crops and 2 to 3 points on the new, practically at the bisisest levels of the day.
